

"Yomeimon Gate" at Nikko Toshogu Shrine, a world heritage was opened to the public after a 4 year renovation

"Yomeimon Gate at Nikko Toshogu Shrine" is one of the most beautiful gates in Japan which used various highest technologies in the early Edo Period. It is also called "Higurashi (staying all day) Gate", as people do not get tired of watching more than 500 carvings on it all day long. The restoration work started for the purpose of maintenance in 2013. It was shown to the public on March 10, 2017.
